COMMENTARY

First a request. Most of the communication within SMAS is by email. If for any reason your email address changes, please send me a quick message from the new address. Just say "update" or something similar and I can then revise my contact list accordingly.

Secondly some sad news. Some of you auto builders might remember Tony Calvert and his wife Celine who were around SMAS a few years ago before moving East. Tony suffered a heart attack at age 67 and died at the end of February.

Thirdly, as with any group such as ours, people come and go. What is noticeable is the number of model builders getting back into the hobby after an absence of some years. Many people find the cost of kits to be a shock and there is a bewildering array of glues and other material available. Gone are the days when the choice was between Testors in the red tube or the blue tube. Colin Kunkel recently came across a web site that we do not want to copy. Whoever runs it insists there is only one way to build a model and that is as dictated by that particular web site. An attitude we should try to ignore when talking with newcomers.

RON JUST IN ARIZONA

Displayed some of my winter projects at a craft show at our park today. Also a picture of my current project. The snow on the mountain picture was taken last week. In 20 years of coming here I have never seen snow stay for days on that mountain.
