- GTR Summer NNL 11 Event Coverage!

Hello GTR and Friends:

By Steve Jahnke

Just where has Summer gone folks? Here it is the 26th of August and September, Labor Day is coming up and of course that means that schools will be starting classes soon, so look out for those kids as they make their way to a school in your area. They are the future of our hobby.

I have a few close friends that work at their modeling benches almost every day or at least a regular basis to keep themselves active in the hobby and busy in retirement. Two of those friends write model kit reviews for the hobby magazine Fine Scale Modeler. Typically, Kalmbach publications gives them aircraft kits to assemble, paint, then write reviews about the resulting model kits for accuracy to the original prototype, ease or difficulty of build and of course a historical background of same. They put a lot of effort into their builds and it shows when the finished product is proudly presented on glossy pages of FSM. I admire the Hell out of those guys for what they do and what the finished product looks like. Then there is me. My stash is substantial; I must admit and doing my best due diligence towards "thinning the heard" as the saying goes. As a lot of you know, my favorite part is and has always been painting the car body first, setting that aside and then work on the rest of the kit and that means keeping a large stash of rattle can spray paints (Testors and Tamiya) as well as a lot of custom mixed 1:1 automotive paint made with a "cool" thinner that will not react and craze the plastic.

As I sit here in my home "office" writing this piece I am absentmindingly thinking about what's on my bench that needs attention. Maybe doing some of the final minutiae detailing on a model that was at the time considered "done" at the time and was put on the shelf. Every time I looked at it I knew that it lacked "something". In this case the car was my long favorite 69 Revel Mustang Shelby Cobra GT500 painted in a custom mixed "Grabber Yellow". Again, she was considered "done" in the day and then onto another model...and that is where she languished in 'semi'-completion. You know where I am going here right? At this writing and that there were not any other projects on the bench that needed my immediate attention, this one got it. The chrome Magnum 500 wheels are now complete. I now painted the wheel spiders in a dark argent (black) and it has completely changed her personality. So... take a second or maybe third look at those models completed and are safely on display; see if any of them need some additional love and attention. I did, and it changed her personality for the better. Thanks for stopping by... Snapper Steve signing off for now.

Industry News

There is some news on the Revell restructure status. Italeri will now be distributed by MRC, so products should begin flowing again. And some internet sources have published an availability list for dealers of the former Revell USA kits so that is good news. We will continue to watch for developments, but it appears that the American theme Revell kits will again be available in the future.

At the recent IPMS/USA Nationals in Phoenix, there were a few manufacturers with displays in the vendor area. I had a chance to speak with the Airfix representative; he indicated there are no plans for any new automotive kits. There will be the occasional repop of older automotive stuff, but their main focus is military subjects.

At the MS Hobbies table, they told me the Platz BMW M6 in Falken markings has been delayed, probably until October. And their Porsche 911 GTR race car kit is also pushed out, now sometime early 2019.

End of GSL Events

This just in from the organizers of the Great Salt Lake Championship:

The International Model Car Builders' Museum, which presents the GSL International Scale Vehicle Championship and Convention, has decided that there will be just two more GSL Championships. In reviewing the event, its history and its possible future, the decision has been made to wrap up GSL in a fair, practical, and ethical manner with two more events: GSL-XXVII will be presented May 2-5, 2019 and the final Championship three years later, in early May of 2022. Rather than adhere to the every-other-year schedule, the three-year interval (from 2019 to 2022) will give competitors who wish to compete in the final event nearly four years from the date of this announcement the opportunity to commence or complete entries to compete in what we expect to be the greatest GSL Championship of all.

The Championship is coming to an end because every event has a natural "life." With so many of those involved in the administration and function of the GSL events getting older (I'll be 68 next year and 71 in 2022), it's appropriate to close down the Championship while it is in its prime, and to give plenty of public notice of this very important decision.

Local events this month include the annual Meadowdale, Memories and Motorsports Car Show on Sept. 8 at Raceway Woods in Carpentersville

And on Sep 30 the Illinois Plastic Kit & Toy Show will be at the DuPage County Fairgrounds in Wheaton.

See the events calendar for details for all the events that I know of. We will be adding events as details are firmed up and released. If any readers wish their shows or any other events of interest to GTR listed send the information along to GTR.

Future regular monthly meetings will meet at the Algonquin Township Building. Any member who wants to bring up other ideas or suggestions for future meetings or activities, do so either at the meeting or contact us.

August GTR Meeting

The August GTR meeting was held on 8/5/2018 at the Algonquin Township building. The meeting was used to set up for the next day's 11th Annual GTR Summer NNL.

2018 GTR Summer NNL

The 11th Annual GTR Summer NNL was held Sunday, August 5 at the Algonquin Township Building in Crystal Lake, IL. And by all measures it was a great success. We had 31 modelers presenting 179 models. Trophy winners were chosen by popular vote. In addition, we had a record 21 vendors selling some really great stuff in the parking lot. The weather cooperated in that the real heat of the day was delayed until about 2 pm when everyone was leaving.
